WASHINGTON—The secret is out why A. F. of L. chieftains are so confident that Donald Richberg will not be made permanent head of the N R A if Congress continues the Blue Eagle.

They have the personal word of the President to that effect.

His promise was given at the White House conference when Roosevelt and the laborites patched up their differences.

The President assured A. F. of L. leaders that Richberg—who continues to be anathema to them—would be removed from N R A command after new legislation was passed by Congress.

If the life of the Blue Eagle is extended, Roosevelt indicated, he plans a complete reorganization of its executive personnel.

On this understanding the laborites agreed to the President's request that they drop their war on Richberg.

Wonder Worker

Senator Alben W. Barkley is the envy of his colleagues.

While they were wearing out shoe leather trying to find jobs for clamorous supporters, the Kentucky quietly garnered the prize patronage plum of the year for a member of his family.

Barkley made Max O. Truitt, his 32-year-old son-in-law, Solicitor of the RFC—the greatest lending institution in the world. The job pays $10,000.

Truitt's only other public experience for his new post was attorney for the Missouri State Fish and Game Commission.

Diplomatic Naivete

The four giant bombing planes which slipped out of the United States for Bolivia last week caused a terrific explosion in the State Department and are likely to bring reverberations on Capitol Hill.

Department of the planes was in violation of the arms embargo against both Bolivia and Paraguay and caused critical press comment in South America.

Investigation within the State Department has placed blame for the fiasco upon Joseph C. Green, who did not seem to think it strange that giant bombing planes should go on a non-stop flight to "chart" an air route which had been charted several thousand times before.

When Summer Welles, chief helmsman of Roosevelt's Good Neighbor policy, heard of this, he sent cables to Peru grounding the planes and firing the pilots.

NOTE—Green, a former Belgian food-relief and close friend of Herbert Hoover, recently was barred from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee when he asked to present State Department views on the Sale of Munitions Treaty.

RELIEF ORDER PLAN FAVORED AGAINST CASH

County to Continue

Irwin Discloses

FAMILIES IN FAVOR

Cash Payment Plan to Start on Monday

Although most of Ohio's 88 counties will inaugurate the cash relief system next Monday, Howard S. Irwin, Pickaway co-director, disclosed that this county will continue under the same system it had been using, that of issuing relief orders.

Interviewed today concerning the county's plans, Mr. Irwin said that a number of heads of families on relief had been questioned concerning their wishes and expressed desire to continue as they have been.

It is possible, however, that the cash system will be put into effect later, but for the present the "relief order" plan will prevail.

To Save $16,000 Under New Plan

COLUMBUS, April 10—The cash relief system to be started Monday will result in reduction of $15,000 per month in administrative cost in the state, C. C. Stillman's office announced today.

Appointment of three new directors today virtually completed the reorganization of administrative staffs in the county set-up. The new directors are: George W. Harwood, formerly at Charleston, W. Va., sent to Richland-co; Dwight Hoffman, Columbus, as director for Morgan-co, and Henry Casey, Caldwell, case supervisor, to become Noble-co relief chief.

Meanwhile two new problems face the state administration. Officials of Trumbull and Columbiana-co have rebelled against serving clients on relief for 18 per cent of their regular fees. The commodities division is faced with the task of putting the Delaware chair factory on a profitable basis or moving it to Mansfield.

TROOPS GUARD PEACE CONFAB

5,000 Armed Men Seek to Prevent
Event Which May Lead to Warfare

STRESA, Italy, April 10—The vanguard of government missions arriving today to discuss security found little Stresa an armed city, with 5,000 troops here to protect the prime ministers of three nations against an incident that might blast peace talks into a cause of war.

Six hundred uniformed carabinieri, 1200 plain clothes policemen, and thousands of boy soldiers and bay soldiers with fixed bayonets toyed the streets.

Without any great hope for concrete results from the conference, Premier Benito Mussolini and his foreign office undersecretary, Fulvio Suvich, were due today.

Premier Ramsay MacDonald and Foreign Minister Sir John Simon of Britain and Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin and Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France arrive tomorrow.

The music saloon in 200-year-old Palazzo Borromeo—where Napoleon and Josephine once sojourned—on the islet of Isola Bella a few hundred yards out in spidery Lago Maggiore will be the setting for the conference.

THREE CITY NEEDS OUTLINED FOR MEN

Presbyterian Club Hears Arguments For Conservancy, New Library Building and City Park; Need Stressed For All Three Items

Interesting discussions of Circleville needs comprised the program when 40 members of the Presbyterian men's club gathered Tuesday evening.

The "needs" as outlined by the speakers included:

The Scioto-Sandusky conservancy program.

A new city library.

A city park.

Col. C. E. Groce conducted the program and introduced J. I. Smith, Jr., W. M. Reid and Joseph W. Adkins, Jr.

Covers 7,931 Miles

Mr. Smith discussed the conservancy which he said would greatly benefit the 17 counties it would serve. An area of 7,931 square miles would be benefitted, he said. He pointed out the importance to communities in the amount of water to be stored and the fact that the water table would be raised for the common need.

Mr. Reid spoke upon library conditions, the advantage of the institution to the community, the service rendered. He called special attention to the need for a fire proof building to assure preservation of valuable books and volumes that could not be replaced in case of fire.

Mr. Adkins told of the vote in council 35 years ago when a move to purchase Park-pl for a city park was defeated. "People of our community," he said, "have remained in a semi-conscious feeling of the need for a park." He also referred to the numerous young people who go to other cities to enjoy recreation facilities.

Would Show Progress

"Such a project," he declared, "would not only aid to our recreation but would show a more progressive community in seeking outside interests for our city."

Custer Named Bandit

Aged Marysville Man Mistakes
Deputy Marshall As Robber
In Court Hearing

Former Deputy Sheriff Bryan J. Custer, who is now a deputy marshal located in Columbus, will spend many days and possibly years trying to live down his identification as a bank robber. It happened in federal court Tuesday afternoon and, although Custer threatened some reporters with: "It will be too bad if this gets into the papers," the story nevertheless is being published.

Custer had taken two bank bandits into court for hearings before U. S. Commissioner Joseph Horner. They were George Bump, 40, and Ivan Phillips, 27, both being connected with the $22,000 robbery of the Marysville Commercial bank.

J. M. Lentz, bank president, identified the men and so did Martin Coleman, another victim. Then came F. L. Baldwin, aged Marysville man. He walked to the witness stand with the aid of a cane.

"Can you identify the bandits?" asked Assistant District Attorney Ray O'Donnell. "One of them," answered Baldwin and after peering around the room he pointed directly at Custer. "There's the man—that's him," he said.

Custer's face turned red and the spectators had a lot of fun before Commissioner Horner held each for the federal grand jury on $25,000 bond.

Bandit Bump joked with Custer saying: "Get away from me—you bank bandit."

Custer then turned to reporters saying: "If this gets in the papers, it will be too bad for some reporters."

SENATE, HOUSE SPLIT WIDENS OVER NEW TAX

Dargusch Warns Disaster to Follow Food,
Clothes Exemption

INCOME FIGHT SEEN

Tax Expert Sees Many Nuisance Taxes

COLUMBUS, April 10—The battle over proposals to exempt food and clothing from the state sales tax today widened the breach between House and Senate leaders over the move to enact a state income tax to make up revenue that would be lost in exempting foodstuffs.

Sen. Paul P. Yoder, Dayton, Democratic floor leader in the senate, who has remained in the capital this week to observe activities in the House, although the Senate is recessed, warned that a block of senate members is unalterably opposed to an income tax and to exemption of food and clothing from the sales tax.

Vacation Until May

Yoder indicated the senate will not reconvene until about May 1, pointing out that the House is expected to attempt to pass legislation eliminating foods from the sales tax and adopt a state income tax measure before that time.

He announced he would lead the battle against such a legislative move in the senate after Frank Uible (D) of Cleveland, Democratic floor leader in the House and other members of the House delegation from Cuyahoga-co announced they would support an amendment exempting food from the sales tax and income tax legislation.

"Meanwhile Carlton S. Dargusch, vice chairman of the state tax commission, warned elimination of food and clothing from the sales tax "would result in the greatest mass of nuisance taxes ever levied on any people."

Dargusch contended such an amendment would cut the sales tax revenue from the estimate of $56,000,000 for 1935 to approximately $28,000,000. He added that a gross income tax would not replace this loss of revenue, because it would not be collected until 1937.

While average monthly collections under the sales tax have approximated $4,000,000, Dargusch claimed November and December sales would more than make up for the smaller returns during summer months.

Mayors May Act

While legislators debated the wisdom of amending the sales tax act and substituting an income tax, mayors of Ohio cities took a hand in the taxation situation today.

Mayor Henry Worley, Columbus, president of the Ohio League of Municipalities, called officials of all cities in the state for a conference here next Tuesday to consider a taxation program to save cities from "financial ruin."

The jurors returned a total of 29 indictments, including two against Harold Cole and Homer McCary, both of Urbana, who were alleged to have stolen hogs from the London prison farm.

ROOSEVELT ACTS ON RELIEF PLANS

WASHINGTON, April 10—President Roosevelt today plunged into the task of setting up administrative machinery for the new $4,880,000,000 work-relief program.

PRESIDENT STARTS ACTION TOWARD SOCIAL PROGRAM

HOUSE CHIEFS IN CONFERENCE

Will Soon Set Up Machinery to Launch Drive For Works-Relief Program

WASHINGTON, April 10—President Roosevelt today threw his weight behind congress to force action on the social security program and other measures he wants enacted at this session.

A summary of his first hours back at his White House desk showed:

Tentative approval of the revised social and economic security program.

Plans for a series of conferences to set up administrative machinery for the $4,850,000,000 public works relief plan.

Approval of the bill restoring the authorized peace time strength of the army.

Talks With Leaders

With urgent allocations already made from the new appropriation and other on the way, President Roosevelt plunged last night into the fight for his economic and social security program by conferring with Speaker Byrns and Chairman Doughton of the house ways and means committee. Byrns indicated that presidential approval had been tentatively given the revised social security bill.

"I cannot say whether he favors all the revisions, but he expressed no opposition," Byrns reported.

Plans to speed the bill through the house were shaped but important concessions will be allowed to quiet the members' complaints of a "gag rule." Debate will be broadened, and the ban on amendments at least partly raised.

Meanwhile the president has not decided definitely on administrative details of work relief.

President Roosevelt's first thought on returning here was of his secretary, Louis Mch. Howe. Mr. Roosevelt was delighted in finding Howe's condition much improved.

4 KILLED IN OHIO MACHINE-TRAIN WRECK

Morrow-co Crossing Scene of Fatal Accident; Others Badly Injured

CARDINGTON, April 10—An automobile-train crash at a grade crossing in the center of this Morrow-co village today had claimed the lives of four persons and caused serious injuries to two others.

The automobile in which the victims were riding was ripped in two when it was struck by the train, a New York Central passenger flyer.

Those killed were Harvey Fox, 64 and his son, Frederick 15; and John Hough, 64 and his son, Wilbur, 12. Milton Fox, 13, another son of Fox and the latter's wife, Ida, 60, were critically injured.

The victims lived on farm near Prospect in Marion-co and were enroute to their homes from services at the United Brethren church here when the crash occurred.

Witnesses declared that the flasher warning lights at the grade crossing, in the center of the village, were working and that the engineer had sounded the whistle on the locomotive numerous times.

When the engine struck the car, the auto was tipped in two and parts of the wreckage were strewn along the tracks for 100 feet. The locomotive was damaged and another engine was sent to replace it before the train could proceed.

Villagers recalled that two other persons were killed at the crossing in a similar accident in 1933.

Wallace the other day.

Dust storms, they said, have covered crops, ruined vegetation, reduced certain areas to starvation.

Cause of the storms, they claim, was the policy of the AAA which required farmers to plow up their unused land as a guarantee it would not be used for pasturage. It was from these plowed fields that the wind whipped the dust.

This, of course, is only a partial cause of the dust storms. Other causes are erosion.

Regarding all these causes the Roosevelt Administration is just as worried as Northwest farmers. It sees dust storms and desert conditions spreading to other areas of the Midwest unless checked soon.

Experts in the Agriculture Department claim that land between the hundredth meridian and the Rockies—western Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas—never should have been homesteaded. It is too dry to raise anything but cattle.

The President, himself, has this problem very much at heart. He has proposed that after the Columbia River and Collee Dam projects are completed, the farmers of the arid Dakotas be transplanted to the fertile valleys of Oregon and Washington.

SIMS PROTESTS DELAY BY FOE

NEW YORK, April 10—Probably nothing will be done about it but P. Hal Sims has filed an official protest against Ely Culbertson taking 15 minutes to play a card in the 150-rubber contract bridge match between the two families.

Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson, with only 25 more rubbers to go, were leading today by 13,700 points. The Sims chiseled 940 points off the Culbertson's previous score by winning five of the last ten rubbers played.

Culbertson not only kept the Simses waiting for 15 minutes before deciding to play the jack of spades from the faced hand but he hurled a Latin quotation at Sims.

"Cogito, ergo sum," declared Culbertson.

"Speak English when you play bridge against me," said Sims.

"It means, 'I think, therefore I exist,'" declared Ely dramatically. "The referee understands it, don't you, Sir Derrick?"

Sir Derrick Wernher, who hasn't been officially noticed for days, beamed. Sir Derrick went to Oxford (or maybe Cambridge).

"I'm playing this match, not the referee, and I want you to do your bidding in English," said Hal.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVALS

THE WEATHER being what it has been of late and the eyes of most humankind having been projected in imagination into the future, a few approving words might be spoken of what the future holds. The strawberry festival may be deemed one of the peculiarly American events, although the berry itself is by no means confined to our shores. There is a universality about the church festival of spring in which the chef d'oeuvre is the strawberry and its faithful friend, ice cream, which in combination can truthfully be said to typify America even as does the Thanksgiving Day turkey.

The immediate prospect, crowded as it is with all sorts of nice things, contains nothing sweeter, more ennobling, than the strawberry festival held on the church lawn, providing the weather is kind. It is no secret that the eatables provided on such occasions range more widely than the strawberry, but that fruit (with cream) provides the apex, the summation of all else in the festivity.

Even with proper attention paid to the young ladies who serve the revelers with cultivated fragaria — and they deserve every attention — the berry itself remains the raison d'être for the festivities. With ice cream and the soothing influence (perhaps stimulating would be the better word) of the adjacent young ladies, a strawberry festival can become blood brother to the invariable provender of the gods, which, we are informed, was of nectar and ambrosia in equal proportions.

There must be a wait, of course, before the strawberry festival can burst upon us in all its glory. But the time is appreciably growing near. Patience, good people, patience!

AN OLD LADY DISAPPEARS

SOON the Commander Mauretania will take her last voyage, to the scrap heap, hardly a fitting end for a mistress of the seas who has as late as 1929 crossed the Atlantic from New York to Plymouth in four days, seventeen hours and forty-nine minutes, when 22 years old at that.

There was a time, possibly during the first years of the Mauretania's own life, when to be a "frisky matron" as to occupy a distinct social place. Certainly in more recent times the fine old boat deserved that appellation. She had everything—looks, style, the "certain air" that means so much to debutantes and dowagers alike. She certainly kept her looks. She was for years the associate of the highly placed, the "best people." Even the storms of ocean seem to have treated her with proper respect; she was "steady," a good sea boat. Her captains were always the pick of the fleet, having social qualifications as good as her own.

Sister of the ill-fated Lusitania, the Mauretania seemed to bear as happy a life as the others was unfortunate. Yet perhaps at her ending she may not be so unfortunate. Rather it might be fitting to tow her out to sea and bury her in her native element, flags flying, still triumphant. Yet better breaking up that a lapse through cold hauling and the romantic pursuits that close the lives of many outworn vessels. A any rate, she has lived.

BOTH FLAT

WILBUR GLENN VOLIVA is still convinced the earth is flat. It is no flatter, however, than he feels after the election ironing out given him by his former constituents of Zion City. To make things worse, as the temporal mantle of the late John Alexander Dowie slips from his shoulders, it is caught up by four former deacons of his own church. By their votes ye shall know them. They are going to return to the "good old days" and put cigarette smoking, dancing and eating oysters among the cardinal sins.

Zion City's socialistic industries, once so profitable, are in the hands of a receiver, but Dowie's morality still is quoted above par. Evidently Mr. Voliva, who did not insist on the letter of the law of the new morality, found the role of "easy boss" more difficult than did the late Thomas C. Platt when senator from New York. Other days, other manners. There is a moral in all this, but discernible only to successful workers of cross-word puzzles.

A great liberator is a man who can't stand it to see somebody else doing the bossing.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Miss Effie Polson, of Columbus, was employed by the Pickaway-co public health league as county tuberculosis nurse.

One hundred and nineteen persons, 70 from Cincinnati and 49 visitors from neighboring towns, attended a special communication of Pickaway lodge No. 23, F. & A. M. The annual inspection was held. Supper was served by the ladies of the Eastern Star.

The Cincinnati high school orchestra, under the direction of C. F. Zaenglein, gave a concert at the veterans' hospital in Callicotho.

15 YEARS AGO

The Fraternal Order of Eagles launched a campaign to increase its membership and held an enthusiastic meeting.

The Chamber of Commerce sponsored a clean-up campaign and appointed Boy Scouts as inspectors.

The Loyal Order of Moose, by resolution, asked the city council to adopt Eastern time.

25 YEARS AGO

E. F. Jones, of Cincinnati, was elected secretary of the Overland Club at a meeting of the board of directors held in Lancaster.

Harry B. Weaver, who was appointed census supervisor of the district, resigned as chairman of the Pickaway-co Republican central committee. F. A. Boyle was selected to fill the vacancy.

The congregation of the First Baptist church voted to sell the church property on E. Main-st and purchase another site on which to erect a modern church building.

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

McDONALD FEADER

CHAPTER 31

THERE WAS no answer from the white man and so Consuelo smiled to herself. "Now he knows what I want and he will help me." When she came out of the bedroom she flung her arms around him.

"I am so sorry to fight with you, my darling. I will take your dancing lessons and I will learn those gypsy songs and I will be the whole cheese of that fat Goldberg's show. Do you believe me?"

Stewart kissed her lips for answer. "And I love these gypsy clothes that Douglas takes me to buy and says are from you. You have been ashamed because I am a gypsy, but you need not be ashamed longer. If I have to look on your face and start freezing. Well, I don't care. I want to know who's behind that did and when I do they'll be plenty of me!"

"Ah, I will get my hands on her again and tear out her hair!" Stewart opened the door. Instantly the woman went to him and drew him back into the room.

"I'm sorry, big boy, I didn't mean to be so coarse and rough. I know I promised and I won't again and I do appreciate all you've done for me. Just look on your face and start freezing. Well, I don't care. I want to know who's behind that did and when I do they'll be plenty of me!"

"She can't do that any more—not with all of your pretty new clothes. Come along, it's nearly curtain time." They had no sooner gotten to the theater and Consuelo gone to her dressing room when Louise's maid informed Stewart that the blonde star wanted to see him immediately.

Louise was finishing her makeup when he entered. He kissed her on the back of the neck and set down. "Well, my dear, what's on your mind?"

She heaved an eyelash before she dared answer. "Stewart, I'm so mad I could just cry! That horrid gypsy took the star off my door and put it on hers and now everybody's laughing about it. I was never so humiliated!"

"I hate her, Stewart, she's like a star wanted to see him immediately. Louise was finishing her makeup when he entered. He kissed her on the back of the neck and set down. "Well, my dear, what's on your mind?"

he was annoyed. "You read the papers, Louise. Goldie saw her dance."

His answer struck a wrong note. Like magic it served to drop the cloak of Louise's cultivated refinement. She sprang up and faced him angrily.

"I am so sorry to fight with you, my darling. I will take your dancing lessons and I will learn those gypsy songs and I will be the whole cheese of that fat Goldberg's show. Do you believe me?"

Stewart kissed her lips for answer. "And I love these gypsy clothes that Douglas takes me to buy and says are from you. You have been ashamed because I am a gypsy, but you need not be ashamed longer. If I have to look on your face and start freezing. Well, I don't care. I want to know who's behind that did and when I do they'll be plenty of me!"

"Ah, I will get my hands on her again and tear out her hair!" Stewart opened the door. Instantly the woman went to him and drew him back into the room.

"I'm sorry, big boy, I didn't mean to be so coarse and rough. I know I promised and I won't again and I do appreciate all you've done for me. Just look on your face and start freezing. Well, I don't care. I want to know who's behind that did and when I do they'll be plenty of me!"

"She can't do that any more—not with all of your pretty new clothes. Come along, it's nearly curtain time." They had no sooner gotten to the theater and Consuelo gone to her dressing room when Louise's maid informed Stewart that the blonde star wanted to see him immediately.

guidance they made the setting for the gypsy camp as real as possible. Here was the van and the trees behind it and here was the campfire with an iron kettle over the pole and a little in the corner was chained a live honey bear. And there were people, Spaniards mostly, who wore their gypsy clothes with good swag and sang their songs loudly.

From the front the camp looked well, but to Consuelo it was a tawdry imitation. How different it would have been if they had only gotten real gypsies; how good to hear sweet Romany again. But these make-believe gypsies knew no sweet Romany. These singers and dancers were not her own and she hated them and treated them like dogs under her feet.

Of the entire setting only the little bear seemed good to her. She made friends with him and he would sit up and beg when she came on the stage. She thought of Honey and Veda and for the moment she was lonesome, but she did not have time to be lonesome long.

When she was through with rehearsals she was taken to the studio for her dancing lessons. Her body was as supple as a green reed, but she chafed under the discipline of dancing what another said she hated. The slowness with which the teacher worked and the constant repetition of an exercise. This learning of the technique—bah, what was the use of it anyway? How difficult it was for her to make her feet obey him and not go dancing off in her own fashion.

But even as through the years she had held to her ideal of dancing before the world, so now she set for herself this task of learning to dance the way L'Vile did. She went to it with grim vigor as if it were a thing to be accomplished in a week. She worked until her body ached and her muscles cried out at the injustice and the teacher was the one who had to say: "This is enough for now. Go home and rest."

Going back to the hotel she would fall asleep in the taxi, her head against Doug's shoulder.

All of this work and hurry did not seem like a gypsy, and indeed the girl had changed so in this short time that one of her own people would hardly have recognized her. She was like a wild flower that had been transplanted and the change of soil and surroundings had given it new life and it had blossomed into new rare beauty. But it was only the blossom that had changed and not the heart of the flower, for though it seemed the wild flower that was its own and would always be its own and it would deceive only the one who looked with his eyes and saw no deeper.

in the meantime, for Consuelo—there were no more lazy days of hiding in the country with Doug. There were no more leisurely strolls on the avenue. No more shows at night. New York had reached out its arms and caught Consuelo in that mad pace that was "hurry-hurry-hurry."

The rehearsals now every morning for the new act. They were working doubly hard to put it on before the first peak of her popularity had worn off. Under her certainly worth the price of a license tag, which should be obtained early in the year and attached securely to the dog's collar for his protection and to keep him out of the pound.

The worthless dogs and dogs without homes are rounded up and impounded, and if not called for within three days they are killed.

I believe the dog lovers of the county are appreciative of the good work done by the dog warden, but I also believe they are doing the right thing by sponsoring a movement to provide better housing facilities for the impounded dogs and a more humane method of getting rid of the worthless ones.

If you don't agree go out to the dog pound and look it over.

Dinner Stories

THREE CHEERS FOR AAA
A Georgia farmer sat barefooted on the steps of his tumble-down shack, smoking a corn-cob pipe. A stranger stopped for a drink of water.

"How is your cotton coming on?" asked the newcomer.

"Ain't got none," said the cracker.

"Didn't you plant any?"

"None. afraid of boll weevils."

"Well, how is your corn?"

"Didn't plant none; 'fraid there wasn't goin' to be no rain."

The visitor was bashed, but cheerful still. "Well, how are your potatoes?"

"Ain't got none; scairt o' potato bugs."

"Really, what did you plant?" asked the stranger.

"Nothin'. I just played safe."

IS THERE A SMALL SLAM AT CLUBS?

MR. J. B. BROWN, of Denver, inquires whether a small slam can be made at Clubs. The opening lead is the K of hearts, followed by the Q. Try it before reading what follows.

♠ A K 9 2
♥ 6 4 2
♦ 9 6 5 2

♠ Q J 10 4

♠ A K 9

♣ A K 4 3

♠ A K Q J 7 4 8

Bidding went: South, 5-Clubs, counting upon game in case partner can furnish 2 tricks; West, 5-Hearts, which would have been a splendid sacrifice for even a vulnerable pair; North, 6-Clubs; East doubled.

The opening lead of the K of hearts held the trick and the Q was led. The declareruffed. South knew from East's echo in hearts that West held only 6 other cards. The declarer took 2 rounds of trumps. When West showed out on the second lead of trumps he evidently held only 5 spades and diamonds combined. Provided West lets go all his useless hearts the declarer cannot tell from West's discards how spades and diamonds are held or who holds

GRAND JURORS MAY AIR IOWA SCHOOL VICES

Prosecutor Says University of Iowa Officials Refuse to Co-operate

IOWA CITY, Ia., April 10.—Demanding that University of Iowa officials "get to the bottom of this," County Attorney E. A. Baldwin today threatened grand jury investigation of vice conditions here following the suspension of 23 members of a national fraternity for alleged immoralities.

Action by the university disciplinary board suspending the entire membership of Phi Beta Delta, a Jewish fraternity, for "maintaining a disorderly house" brought immediate charges from its president, Hyman Bluestein of Lynn, Mass., that practically every other fraternity on the campus had entertained women visitors.

University Must Act
Charging lack of cooperation on the part of university officials, Prosecutor Baldwin declared:

"Unless the university clears up this condition and gets to the bottom of the charges I will call witnesses before the grand jury May 6. I knew nothing of this affair until it had already been brought before the courts, and even then my cooperation was not asked."

Meanwhile Bluestein declared that unless members of the fraternity were considered for reinstatement suits for redress would follow. Witnesses under oath, he said, would show that similar conditions had been going on in other Greek letter houses on the campus.

Bluestein said his fraternity, its local chapter revoked by the university, was being used as an object lesson to other campus organizations.

"We had the girls at our house," said the chapter president, "but only on three occasions. Only once were both girls here together. If we are made to suffer we want justice done all the way around."

Two girls, one a minor, were said to have visited the house.

Took No Action
Dean of Men Robert Rlenow answered Prosecutor Baldwin by stating that county officials, presumably, knew about vice and gambling conditions but took no action.

"Lack of cooperation? The shoe has been on the other foot," Dean Rlenow stated. "What could a grand jury investigation do in the case involving the 23 fraternity men? The university will cooperate, but the county officials will not."

PROBLEMS IN 1884 SAME AS IN 1935

GALION, April 10.—What were problems of education 50 years ago? Records at local high school, which gave details of board and teachers' meetings, indicate that many of the problems a half-century ago are identical with those of today.

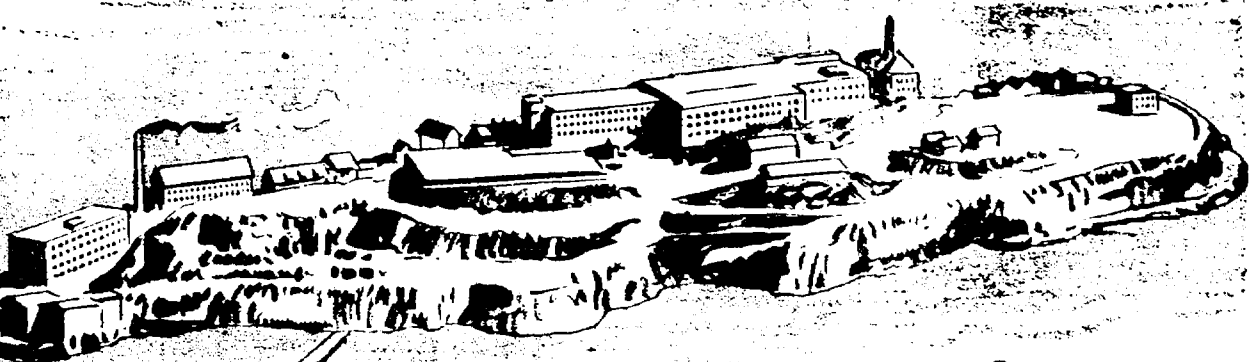

For example, minutes of May, 1884: "There being no money in the treasury, the board preferred to have the teachers, as many as could conveniently do so, wait until the last of June for their pay."

NEW POOL PLANNED

GALION, April 10.—Ground was turned here today for Heise Park swimming pool as an FERA project. W. C. Harbarger, Orrville, consulting engineer, is in charge of the 25 men employed. Project will cost $20,000, half of which will be paid by the city. Galion has talked of building a swimming pool for 15 years, and at last it appears that the talk will become realization. The pool will be 60 by 120 feet, with a wading pool 30 feet in diameter. A bathhouse will also be erected.

SALES TAX RULING

Sales of Merchandise Prepaid Tax Cards
Merchandise prepaid tax cards, the form of which shall be prescribed by the Tax Commission, may be sold by licensed vendors, where the vendor has the written permission of the Commission. All applications for permission to use such cards shall be made to the Tax Commission of Ohio, Sales Tax Section, 68 E. Gay-st. Columbus, Ohio. Every merchant who prepaid tax card issued shall bear a serial number and the vendor's name and license number, except that in cases of vendors operating more than one retail establishment, the master license number assigned by the Tax Commission, when it granted permission to issue such cards, shall be used in lieu of said vendor's license number. These cards shall be only of the denomination of $1.00 and shall be sold to the consumer for 2 cents. Each card shall provide space for the affixation of the whole prepaid tax receipt; i. e., both the vendor's and consumer's portion, and the consumer's portion must be torn in two equal pieces, as required in Amended Special Sales Tax Ruling No. 67, before affixing to the card. Each such card shall bear the following legend:
"Ohio retail sales tax has been collected upon the sales of $1.00 worth of merchandise, as evidenced by the three-cent prepaid tax receipt affixed hereto."
These cards shall not be transferable from one consumer to another, and in addition to the foregoing legend, it shall be necessary that the words "not transferable" appear on each card. The cards can be used only in the retail establishment or establishments of the vendor issuing same.
Each vendor, operating more than one retail establishment and using a master license number on the merchant's prepaid tax cards, shall file a consolidated return of information on Sales Tax Form No. 10.
Where a merchandise prepaid tax card is used by a retail vendor, acting under permission of the Commission, the vendor must in the presence of the consumer indicate the amount of the taxable sale by punching the exact amount of every such sale in every instance at the time the transaction is made. Failure to so punch the card shall be a failure to collect the tax on a taxable transaction.
The vendor shall retain all completely used merchandise prepaid tax cards for the purpose of inspection by the Tax Commission.
The Tax Commission reserves the power to cancel a vendor's privilege of using merchandise prepaid tax cards at any time it finds a violation of any of the provisions of the Sales Tax Act.
Article 1 of Testating Regulations No. 1 is hereby amended so that portion which is inconsistent with this ruling is hereby repealed.

What do you mean, three years from seed bed to cigarettes...

I mean simply this—it actually takes about three years to make a Chesterfield cigarette.

It all starts with these little plants, called tobacco seedlings. They are grown under cover and transplanted to the open fields in the early spring.

Then the warm Southern sunshine begins to get in its good work and as the plants grow and ripen the mild ripe leaves are cut and sent to the curing barns. The farmer then takes his tobacco to the auction warehouse where it is sold to the highest bidder. All of this takes about a year.

The tobaccos for Chesterfield cigarettes are then stored away for two years or more to make them milder and taste better.

It all takes time—just about three years—but there is no substitute for mild ripe tobacco in making a good cigarette. That's the reason smokers—men and women—say that Chesterfields are milder and that Chesterfields taste better.

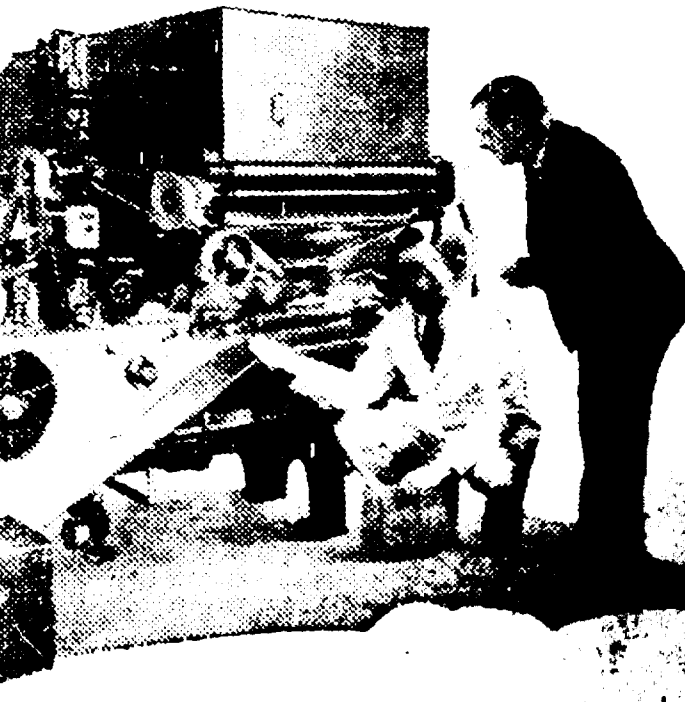

Tobacco seedlings are transplanted to the open fields in the early spring.

For two years or more the mild ripe Chesterfield tobaccos are stored in wooden hogheads (storage).

Always use the new and improved Chesterfields. They are milder and taste better.

ROSS NEGRO; RETAINS TITLE

Junior Welterweight Honors at Stake As Barney Shows His Best Form

SEATTLE, Wash., April 10.—Fighting with Henry Woods, slim little negro, Barney Ross, world's lightweight and junior welterweight champion, won a 12-round decision here last night without hardly extending himself. A record crowd of 8,000 paid approximately $15,000 to see the battle.

Only the junior welterweight title was at stake. Ross weighing 136½ pounds and Woods 137½. Ross had a big edge in nine of the rounds and a slight edge in the others, Woods failing to win a single frame.

Ross floored Woods with a right under the heart in the third round, the negro youngster twisting his right ankle badly when he fell. He came to his feet at the count of nine. Ross measured him time after time after forcing him into a corner, but Woods gamely withstood the attack until the bell rang.

For the next two rounds Woods jumped badly and it put him strictly on the defensive. At the end of the fifth round his seconds bandaged the injured ankle. Ross plans to leave immediately for New York City.

Jimmy McLarnin, welterweight champion, was at the ringside. The battle showed that Ross is still capable of easily making the lightweight limit and still be strong.

DEAN, NEWSOME BEFORE LANDIS

CHICAGO, April 10.—Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, boisterous pitching star of the St. Louis Cardinals, was scheduled to appear before Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis today in connection with reports he accepted a $5,000 bonus for signing a 1935 contract.

Another St. Louis hurler, Buck Newsome of the Browns, likewise was scheduled to face the baseball commissioner today. Like Dean, whom he faced yesterday at St. Louis in the city series, Newsome, too, was to answer questions of a reported bonus payment.

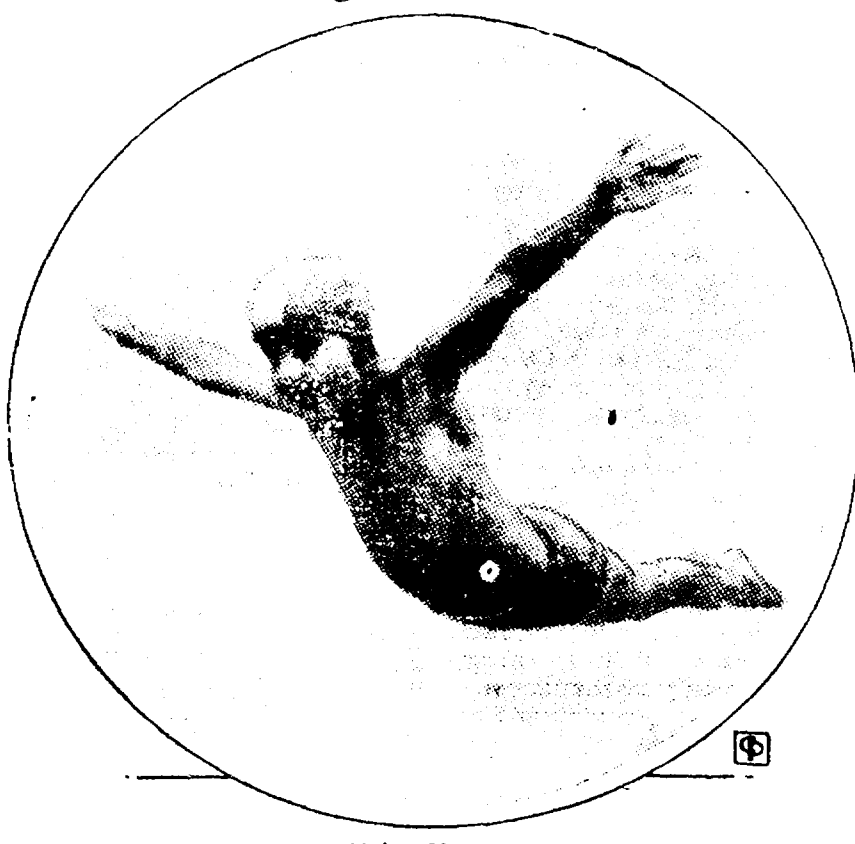

Both pitchers left for Chicago at the request of Judge Landis. No explanation was forthcoming from Commissioner Landis' office at an early hour, however. Dean was asked to appear here close on the heels of a report in published in East St. Louis in which Dizzy was said to have received $5,000 from Dick Stack, East St. Louis furniture dealer, for abandoning his holdout stand to sign up for a reported salary of $17,500.

Dizzy at that time was demanding $25,000 for his services.

BOB LOGAN IN FORM

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10.—The Brooklyn Dodgers are in the nation's capital today for a battle with the Senators. The club freshmen did nobly yesterday, setting down the Toronto Leafs 6-0. Bob Logan surprised by holding the Leafs to a meager six hits. Immediately after the game the boys ran for the train, bidding fond farewell to Jacksonville and all of Florida for another year.

MILLAR HEADS NEW DOG CLUB; TRIALS SUNDAY

South Bloomfield Man President, Ralph Leach Vice President of Club

B. S. Millar, one of Pickaway-co's leading dog breeders, has been elected president of the Pickaway-co Sportsman's Bird Dog club which will hold its first field trial Sunday beginning at 7:30 a. m. on the Stevenson-Immel property near Yellowbud.

Other officers of the organization are Ralph M. Leach, Northridge-rd, vice president; Byron Eby, Chillicothe, who is now working for the Weaver wholesale house, treasurer, and Lester H. Coate, W. Union-st. secretary. Drawings for the field trial will be held at 8:30 p. m. Saturday with a large number of persons expected to attend. It is believed a number of dog owners living in Columbus and other central Ohio cities will participate.

Lunch will be served on the grounds.

Mr. Millar, who lives just west of South Bloomfield, said in commenting on the new organization: "Pickaway-co dog lovers have long wanted such an organization as this. There are many fine dogs in the county and we are hoping for a large crowd at the trial." Any persons seeking additional information concerning the organization can obtain it at the H. E. Betz restaurant.

WINFORD PUNISHED

AVON PARK, Fla., April 10.—The Buffalo Bisons landed on Jim Winford, lanky right hander, in the tenth inning of yesterday's contest between the Bisons and Columbus Red Birds and tallied six runs before the side was retired and walked off with a well earned 7 to 2 victory. The Red Birds outthit the Bisons but could not obtain safe hits when they meant runs.

HIGH 9 DROPS PRACTICE TILT

First Inning Buck Fever Hurts Chances; Coleman and Rader On Mound

The Tiger baseball team in its first effort of the season dropped a 5-inning practice tilt on the Columbus East high field Tuesday afternoon. The score was 1 to 7.

The Tiger's run came in the third inning when Speakman's hit scored Carothers. A second run was blotted out when Friley trying to score was tossed out at the plate.

Most of East's runs were scored in the first inning before the Red and Black team could get the stage fright out of its system.

The high school will make its first appearance at home Friday afternoon with Stoutsville coming here. The game promising to be interesting.

The starting lineup used by Coach Pete Herberholz was: Carothers, 3b; Friley, c; Speakman, 1b; Jenkins, cf; Coleman, p; Kirwin, ss; Osborn, 2b; Carle, lf, and Grant, rf. Substitutions included: Bell, c; Roth, 1b; Carle, cf; G. Rader, p; Coleman, ss; Kirwin, 2b; Friley, lf, and Plum, rf.

Gerlach was the East pitcher.

Cologne Cathedral, the finest specimen of Gothic architecture in Europe can now decorate your wall—and in your own handwork at that! This lovely Cathedral is done entirely in single and running stitch and in one color, too. Only a single thread is used, the resulting picture being like an etching when done. You will enjoy doing it for the embroidery is simple and the resulting piece is something that will add distinction to your home.

In pattern 5326 you will find a transfer pattern of a picture 11x16 1-2 inches; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches needed.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Herald Household Arts Dept., 124 W. Main St., Circleville, O.

GERMANS KILL TWO IN DEATH OF NAZI HERO

Men 28 and 34 Beheaded in Prison Yard As Hitler
Refuses to Act

BERLIN, April 10. The ice-chilled axe of the headsman fell this morning on the necks of Solly Epstein, 28, and Hans Ziegler, 34, as accessories in the murder of Horst Wessel, Nazi hero and inspiration of the song that bears his name.

An announcement by the ministry of justice posted on bulletin boards throughout the city, simply stated that "The Fuehrer saw no reason for exercising his prerogative to pardon them."

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler renounced this right, it was stated, on the grounds that the murder "was conceived of political hatred, carefully planned, and brutally executed."

Takes Few Minutes

Epstein and Ziegler died on the block in the courtyard of Plotzenze prison in the presence of only a handful of official witnesses, at 6 o'clock. The whole affair occupied less than half an hour.

It was assumed that the axe was wielded by August Groebler, official executioner, who on Feb. 18 beheaded Baroness Benita von Falkenhayn and Renate von Nazmer, spies.

The two men had both been convicted in 1930 as accessories to manslaughter in connection with Wessel's death the year before. A new trial was ordered last year, when both were found guilty of being accessories to murder "on the basis of further clarification of the case and fuller evidence."

They tried to show that Wessel was slain in a communist fight but the state contended they watched in the street while Albrecht Hoehner slew Wessel in his room.

Hoehner was sentenced to prison and died, it is believed, before he could be brought up for a new trial.

While Epstein and Ziegler were losing their heads in Plotzenze, Richard Roederer, naturalized American of Cleveland, Ohio, occupied a cell in Moabit prison in another section of town, awaiting trial before the people's court Friday on a spying charge that might carry the axe penalty.

Baron George von Stenowsky, Polish captain whose spying brought the two women to the headsman, was still in prison in Germany awaiting possible exchange for a German spy in Poland.

Hell Hath No Fury—

CLEVELAND — Mrs. Virginia Gerace, 23, swore to assault and battery charges against Miss Ann Lucas, 22, charging she broke up the Gerace wedding. Her story was that when she and her bridegroom walked from St. Johns Cathedral after the wedding, that Miss Lucas rushed up to her, tore off her bridal veil and hit her so hard she broke her nose. Mrs. Gerace said Miss Lucas cried: "She took my man."
